EDITORIAL MUSINGS.

As To Gasoline Slackers.

We are proud of the hundreds of automobile owners here, who refused to take their cars out Sunday, except for necessary purposes, and thereby observed the Government's order to save gasoline in that way. We saw a few, however, whom we believe either thoughtlessly or purposely showed a contemptuous disregard of the Fuel Administrator's request. These should be held up to public scorn.

We heard of one particular farmer in the North Middletown vicinity who having to make a trip with his family, hitched up a farm wagon and two mules, and loaded the family in it, making the trip in safety and comparative comfort. The family and the "old man" really enjoyed the novelty of the trip, and the automobile enjoyed a day's rest.

We who are at home are called upon to make very few sacrifices, and to be one hundred per cent. American it ought not be necessary to attach a heavy penalty to every request the Government makes, in order to secure its observance. We should quickly, willingly and good-naturedly comply with every suggestion made by those in control, and not argue why this and that should be done. The Government has asked for, and that ought to be enough for any patriotic citizen. The way to hasten victorious peace is by perfect team work both in and out of the army. Saving gasoline will be one good way to do it.

The victory wheat crop of the United States, conservatively estimated at 878,000,000 bushels, has been harvested without importing help from the non-wheat growing States.

This is the first time in wheat history that this has been done. Thousands and thousands of well-posted men said that it could not be done. But it stands, an accomplished fact. The United States employment service managed to find emergency helpers without shipping them long distances. It supplied more than half the extra "hands" needed to gather the great harvest, and it found them within easy reach of the wheat fields.

That is a fact which will repay a little study—especially if the study reveals a way to make it a permanent fact. The heroic toil of the American farmer in this crisis is something that should not be required of him after the crisis is past. But if a way can be found to get help in the fields without bringing transient labor long distances and then leaving it out of employment when the season of stress is over it will be a permanent addition to the sum of social betterments.

Men inexperienced in road work will most likely lose money taking road contracts, besides making it doubly hard on engineers to get a good job.

The war must end soon. There is hardly a square inch left on the Crown Prince where new medals may be hung.

The man who jumps at conclusions is apt to meet with a surprise when he lands.

How many miles of road will the road fund of your county improve?

HOLD YOUR LIBERTY BONDS.

The effort to separate Liberty Bond holders not familiar with stock and bond values from the Liberty Bonds has taken a new turn. The manipulators instead of offering to buy the bonds at inadequate prices offer in exchange for them the stocks and bonds of various wildcat corporations, whose face value is large but whose actual value is little or nothing.

The safest investment in the world is a Liberty Bond. For a patriotic American, Liberty Bonds are the best investment in the world. It is not only a wise thing to hold them, but it is a patriotic thing to do. The soldier that takes a trench and then voluntarily gives it up it not to be compared with one who takes a trench and holds it against the enemy. An American who buys a Liberty Bond and then sells it is not so good an American as one who buys a bond and holds it. This does not apply, however, to one who sells his bond because of real necessity; this is legitimate trading in Liberty Bonds which the Treasury recognizes.

It was a wise and patriotic old colored American who refused to sell his $100 Liberty Bond for $96, because he would not give up the United States' promise (his bond) to pay him $100 with interest for the United States' promise (currency) to pay him $96, and who refused to sell the same bond for $102, because, he said, that the $102 must be counterfeited or else the would-be purchaser would not be willing to give it for only $100. It is safe to say that there are no gold bricks or wildcat securities among that American's assets.

THE HOME SLACKER.

Cashing in of War Savings Certificates becomes a public record to which every county chairman and other persons may have access. Unexpected and unavoidable financial reverses and requirements are the only causes justifying cashing of War Savings Stamps before maturity.

The worst of all slackers is the person who buys War Savings Stamps merely to make a showing of his patriotism and then quickly cashes them in to the postoffice. It is a pleasing thing to say that not many such have yet come to light in Kentucky, and there will be fewer when it is generally known that the history of their transactions in this respect are available to the public. Keep your pledge. Buy the stamps you promised and keep them until maturity if you can.
